CONTEMPORARY MUSIC STUDIO CONCERT
Monday, April 8, 2024 7:30 p.m., von Kuster Hall Paul Frehner and Patricia Green, directors

Schrödinger’s Cat
   Poul Ruders (b. 1949)
   Menelaos Menelaou, violin; Neda Samavati, guitar

About a Mountain
   Laura Schwendinger (b. 1962)
   Leah Bondy, soprano; Paul Schulz-Courtemanche, flute and piccolo

Mangåta (premiere)
   Neda Samavati (b. 1993)
   Paul Schulz-Courtemanche, flute; Amy Dimitrov, bass clarinet; Dani McPhee, soprano sax; Jacqueline Yu-Xi Huang, violin; Neda Samavati, guitar

I will learn to love a person Christopher Cerrone (b. 1984) Patricia Wrigglesworth, soprano; Dani McAfee, soprano saxophone; Meagan Foster, percussion; Katie Birt, piano

INTERMISSION

Trio III from White on White Robert Ashley (1930-2014)
   Alex Drodz, trumpet; Frank Yong-Wen Su, violin; Tracy Guo, piano

Quintet (premiere)
   Jimmy Jin (b. 1996)
   Patricia Wrigglesworth, soprano; Leah Bondy, soprano; Emma Heaton, soprano Hayoon Kim, piano; Emer Montano, conductor

Pièta
   Jonas Eckenfels (b. 2001)
   Emma Heaton, soprano; Tasman Tantasawat, viola; Hayoon Kim, piano

All Spring
   Emily Doolittle (b. 1972)
   Jiajing Zhou, soprano; Katie Kirkpatrick, flute; Amy Dimitrov, clarinet; Jacqueline Yu-Xi Huang, violin; Iris Leck, double bass; Meagan Foster, percussion I will learn to love a person, poetry by Tao Lin seen from a great enough distance i cannot be seen i feel this as an extremely distinct sensation of feeling like shit; the effect of small children is that they use declarative sentences and then look at your face with an expression that says, 'you will never do enough for the people you love'; i can feel the universe expanding and it feels like no one is trying hard enough the effect of this is an extremely shitty sensation of being the only person alive; i have been alone for a very long time it will take an extreme person to make me feel less alone the effect of being alone for a very long time is that i have been thinking very hard and learning about existence, mortality loneliness, people, society, and love; i am afraid that i am not learning fast enough; i can feel the universe expanding and it feels like no one has ever tried hard enough; when i cried in your room it was the effect of an extremely distinct sensation that 'i am the only person alive,' 'i have not learned enough,' and 'i can feel the universe expanding and making things further apart and it feels like a declarative sentence whose message is that we must try harder' the distances i have described in my poems will expand to find me but they will never find me when my head touches your head your face hits my face at the speed of light holding it a little I want to cross an enormous distance with you to learn the wisdom of lonely animals with low I Qs I want to remember you as a river with a flower in it I’ll be right back.

I don’t think telling someone, “don’t feel sad” will console them.
You need to do whatever you can to make them feel better whenever your actions Make them feel sad and not stop ‘til they feel better Read my text message and think about it You just never seem happy with me anymore Even if I make you laugh I think the damage I’ve done has become irreversible I’m surrounded by endless shit I can’t move Where are you? I just had a dream where I came to New York but I didn’t tell you I took the subway to your apartment and waited for your roommate to come out so I could sneak in Then I went to your room and crawled under your sheets from the end of your bed then I crawled to your face and kissed you then pet and hugged you and we fell asleep happy birthday I drew you an ugly fish face comic will you visit me today I want to hold you and kiss your cheek I miss walking with you at night.
Pietà poetry by Reiner Maria Rilke

Pietà
So seh ich, Jesus, deine Füße wieder, die damals eines Jünglings Füße waren, da ich sie bang entkleidete und wusch; wie standen sie verwirrt in meinen Haaren und wie ein weißes Wild im Dornenbusch.

So seh ich deine niegeliebten Glieder zum erstenmal in dieser Liebesnacht.
Wir legten uns noch nie zusammen nieder, und nun wird nur bewundert und gewacht.

Doch, siehe, deine Hände sind zerrissen-: Geliebter, nicht von mir, von meinen Bissen.
Dein Herz steht offen, und man kann hinein: das hätte dürfen nur mein Eingang sein.

hat keine Lust zu meinem wehen Munde-.
O Jesus, Jesus, wann war unsre Stunde?
Wie gehn wir beide wunderlich zugrund.

Thus, Jesus, I see your feet again.
They were a sweet stripling’s feet then, when I nervously undressed them to wash – How they stood tangled in my hair like a white deer caught in thorns.

Now I see your never-caressed naked limbs for the first time; on this night of love.
We never laid down together.
Now I can only admire and watch over you.

But look how your hands are torn – not, darling, by my love bites. Your heart is open for anyone to enter.
This entrance should have been mine alone.

Now you’re exhausted, your tired lips have no use for my sad mouth. Ah Jesus, Jesus, when was our hour?
Strangely we go together to perish.
(to our doom).

Translation by Paul Vangelisti and Silvia Kofler All Spring, poetry by Rae Crossman five o'clock five o'clock a. m. a woodpecker knocks a hole into my sleep

all spring
all spring
I have been watching a pair of geese in the flooded hollow their dance of necks among the reeds

two at first now half a dozen

call me back

all spring
I have been listening to them flourish

oh
I had forgotten how loudly sometimes life proclaims itself

my love
say it is not too late to call you back across the arid fields

my love
say it is not too late to weave a nest even from the strands of sorrow have you ever held a bird

have you ever held a bird in your hand wing broken heart pounding in your palm and you the one who had snapped the fragile bones

I say you have ruffed grouse ruffed grouse drumming wings batter against the ground flail the bobcat’s jaw

just when just when I thought the aphids had destroyed the yellow beauty of the daisies

the goldfinches came to feed on the crawling stems and death burst into bloom