Purpose: To provide DMA voice student with a curriculum and experience that will enrich, refine, and reinforce concepts in the area of vocal pedagogy in order to make each student a more effective vocal pedagogue

Learning Outcomes: By the end of this course, participants will:
- examine many books and articles from prominent figures of vocal pedagogy, vocal production, and vocal health
- apply knowledge gained to develop a functional philosophy of vocal pedagogy
- implement and reinforce this knowledge through applied teaching and observation
- develop skills in scholarly research and writing

Suggested Books:
McKinney, James. The Diagnosis and Correction of Vocal Faults.
Miller, Richard. The Structure of Singing.
Turabian, Kate L. A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 9th edition.

Methods:
1. Readings with in-class presentations: Based on the initial class meeting, readings will be assigned to accommodate the majority of students' preferences. After the initial meeting, classes will have specific areas of focus, consisting of lectures, readings, presentations, and discussions of various aspects of vocal pedagogy.
2. Video-recorded teaching: Each participant will be required to teach and video record four 30-minute lesson segments for presentation in front of the class throughout the year. These will be shown during class time; the participants observing the lesson will take notes and offer constructive feedback on the positive aspects of the lesson, as well as the challenges that were faced. Participants who are teaching will also be invited to critique and ask questions following the presentation.

3. Completing an academic research project: Each participant will select an individualized vocal pedagogy research topic. This will be a scholarly paper with appropriate citations of no less than 10 pages of written text. Participants will be expected to go outside of the course’s reading list for references and will compile their research for a presentation prior to the due date of the completed paper. All topics must be approved by the professor.

4. Observing faculty lessons: Participants will be expected to observe no-less-than three different studio teachers (excluding your own) over the course of the first and second semesters; these observations will be arranged by the observed teachers, and Vocal Ped participants will observe two lessons of each professor (one lesson in first term, and one lesson in the first weeks of the second term).

5. Observing faculty master classes: Participants are expected to observe and report on four master classes, preferably including those of the teachers whose lessons were observed. Note the vocabulary used, the manner of delivery, and how the participants in the class respond to instruction. This assignment will be discussed in greater detail in class.

6. Observing faculty studio recitals: Participants will observe 4 studio recitals, preferably of the teacher whose lessons you are observing. Note trends in technique, deportment, repertoire, interpretation, and musicianship within your review.
